1. The majority of the information, case studies, research summaries, resources, videos, data, text, photographs, graphics or any other material on Network Autism is generated by Network Autism members (“Members’ Content”). Other material (“Our Content”) is generated by the National Autistic Society (NAS).
2. When you use Network Autism you will have access to Members’ Content and Our Content on the same terms and conditions as these, which aim to support collaboration and the free sharing of knowledge and information.
3. By making Your Content available on Network Autism you grant the NAS a royalty-free licence to distribute, reproduce, modify, adapt, and display Your Content on Network Autism and you grant an irrevocable licence for Network Autism Members, including the NAS, to use Your Content free of charge and without any restrictions, provided that the user acknowledges the source.
4. The NAS has complete discretion whether to accept or reject any Content submitted and is not obliged to provide a reason for rejection.
5. You can ask the Network Autism Manager to remove Your Content from Network Autism at any time but you recognise that Your Content may continue to be used by Network Autism members (including the NAS) pursuant to these Terms and Conditions.

ACCEPTABLE AND UNACCEPTABLE CONTENT

6. Your Content must not infringe any copyright, registered trademarks, rights of privacy, rights of confidentiality, publicity or other intellectual property or other rights of any other person or organisation and you warrant that Your Content contains no such infringement to your knowledge having taken reasonable care to avoid any such infringement.

7. Content must not contain any information about any person who is 15 years old or younger, which could be used to identify them unless you have their consent (or the consent of a guardian or family member) in writing.
8. Content must not contain any information about any vulnerable child or adult, which could be used to identify them unless you have their consent (or the consent of a guardian or family member in the case of minors or adults unable to give consent in their own right), such consent being in writing.

LIABILITY & RESPONSIBILITY

9. You are solely responsible for the accuracy and legality of Your Content.
10. Your Content is displayed on Network Autism entirely at your risk.
11. Please keep a copy of all material you submit in accordance with your organisation's or employer's policies and processes.
12. If Your Content contains names, photographs, videos or other personal information about individuals then you must make sure that permission has been sought by the individual in question or their legal spokesperson for the material to be shared on Network Autism and in submitting Your Content you warrant that such explicit consent has been obtained.
13. It is your sole responsibility to ensure that Your Content complies with your organisation's or employer's policies and processes.
14. The NAS will not be responsible as author, editor or publisher for Your Content.
15. Views and opinions expressed in Your Material are yours alone and their being posted on the Network Autism website does not make them the views, opinions, policy or advice of the NAS. This includes material submitted by NAS staff members when they are participating as individuals in a personal capacity, which is to be assumed unless it is specifically stated that the NAS staff member is acting on behalf of the NAS.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

16. Your Content will remain your property. The NAS does not claim ownership of Your Content (but note conditions 3 and 5 above and 17 below).
17. You retain the ownership rights for Your Content and grant the NAS a non-exclusive, worldwide, perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free, sub-licensable right to exercise the copyright, publicity, trade marks, design rights, database rights and all other intellectual property rights you or any third party or parties has or have in Your Content, in any media known now or in the future.
18. All copyright, publicity, trade marks, design rights, database rights and all other intellectual property rights in or relating to Our Content on Network Autism belong to the NAS and those rights in the Content of other Network Autism Members belong to those other Members but in all cases you have a similar licence to use the material pursuant to these terms and conditions.
